In Villa Taranto, Verbania "The week of the Tulip"

From Sunday, April 15th to Wednesday, April 25th the botanical gardens of Villa Taranto will host the "Week of the Tulip". Inaugurated by Captain Neil Mc Eacharn in 1957, it has become a tradition. In this period the wonderful botanical garden is colored by bright colors thanks to the explosion of more than 80.000 bulbs. The tulip comes from Turkey where it grows spontaneously. The word "tulip" derives from the greek "turban" (turban).

In this period of the year along the route called "small Holland" are planted over 26.000 bulbs belonging to 65 different varieties: among these we can mention the elegant "Cummings" lilac fringed with white, the "Flaming Parrot", a black tulip and the less known "Black Parrot".

In this season it is also possible to admire the blooms of forsythie, magnolias, rhododendrons, cornus, paulownia and the spectacular Davidia involucreta. The botanical garden is open every day of the week from 8.30 am to 6.30 pm. Ticket € 9,50. It has one inside and one outside parking area.
